Personal Interests

I enjoy exploring new areas in which I can express creativity; whether that be experimenting with stop-motion animation, or discovering new photographic techniques. I spend a lot of time taking photographs and looking for new and interesting ways of capturing subjects. I have a keen interest in portrait photography, and intend to spend a lot of time in the future experimenting in this field.

I also hold a passion for illustration and graphic design. I love to while away evenings either with a pencil and paper, or exploring Photoshop and Illustrator looking for new techniques or functions.

In addition I love to read, and can't quite imagine what it would be like to live in a world without books. Some of my favourite authors include Haruki Murakami, George Orwell, Albert Bester and Neil Gaiman.
